Notes for Daniel Cady:

Cady unusual name has a number of possible sources, each with its own distinctive history and derivation. Firstly, it may be of Anglo-Saxon origin, representing a rare survival of the native Olde English personal name or byname "Cada", from an Old Germanic root word meaning "lump, swelling", possibly applied to a stout, plump person; the given name is also found as the first element of the placename Cadbury, and in Middle English became Cade.

Secondly, the surname may be of Old French and early medieval English origin, as a metonymic occupational name for a cooper, derived from the Old French and Middle English "cade", cask, barrel. Finally, the surname may derive from the Middle English homonym "cade", domestic animal, pet, specifically often used of a young animal left by its mother and brought up by hand as a domestic pet; in this instance the term was used as a nickname for a gentle, inoffensive person. The name is also found early in Scotland, where John Cady, tenant under the Earl of Douglas in 1376, is the first of the name recorded.

Plymouth played a very important role in American colonial history. It was the final landing site of the first voyage of the Mayflower and the location of the original settlement of Plymouth Colony. Plymouth was established in December 1620 by English separatist Puritans who had broken away from the Church of England, believing that the Church had not completed the work of the Protestant Reformation.

Today, these settlers are much better known as the "Pilgrims", a term coined by William Bradford.

The Mayflower first anchored in the harbor of Provincetown, Massachusetts on November 11, 1620.

The ship was headed for the mouth of the Hudson River near Manhattan, which was part of the Colony of Virginia at the time, but it did not go beyond Cape Cod.

The Pilgrim settlers realized that they did not have a patent to settle in the region, so they signed the Mayflower Compact prior to disembarking. They explored various parts of Cape Cod and eventually sought a suitable location for a permanent settlement to the westward in Cape Cod Bay. They discovered the sheltered waters of Plymouth Harbor on December 17, and the protected bay led to a site for the new settlement after three days of surveying.

The settlers officially disembarked on December 21, 1620. It is traditionally said that the Pilgrims first set foot in America at the site of Plymouth Rock, though no historical evidence can prove this claim. They named their settlement "Plimouth" (sometimes spelled "Plimoth") after the major port city in Devon, England from which the Mayflower ultimately sailed.

Plymouth Colony was an English colonial venture in America from 1620 to 1691 at a location that had previously been surveyed and named by Captain John Smith. The settlement served as the capital of the colony and developed as the town of Plymouth, Massachusetts. At its height, Plymouth Colony occupied most of the southeastern portion of Massachusetts.

Notes for Christiana Penn:

Christian/Christiana Penn - arrived Aug 1623, aboard either the "Ann" or "Little James", carrying about 89 passengers.

Plymouth Colony was an English colonial venture in America from 1620 to 1691 at a location that had previously been surveyed and named by Captain John Smith. The settlement served as the capital of the colony and developed as the town of Plymouth, Massachusetts. At its height, Plymouth Colony occupied most of the southeastern portion of Massachusetts.

In 1623 the ships Anne and Little James were the third and fourth ships financed by the London-based Merchant Adventurers to come out together in support of Plymouth Colony, as were Mayflower in 1620 and Fortune in 1621. Anne carried mostly passengers, and the much smaller Little James carried primarily cargo, albeit with a few passengers. After a stormy three-month voyage from London, Anne arrived at New Plymouth in early July 1623, with Little James a week or so later.

Between them the ships brought 90-odd new settlers along with about thirty others who were not part of the core emigrant group. Many of this emigrant contingent would serve the colony well in the coming years, while others would be judged unfit for the hardships of colony life and be sent back to England.

No passenger-list has been preserved, but unless some died before the division of lands in 1624 the following names referred to in that division must approximate to accuracy:

Annable, Bangs, Bartlett, Brewster, Buckett, Burcher, Clarke, Conant, Cooke, Cuthbertson, Dix, Faunce, Flavell, Flood, Bridget Fuller, Hatherly, Heard, Hicks, Hilton, Holman, Long, Mitchell, Morton, Newton, Oldham, Palmer, Penn, Peirce, Pratt, Rand, Rattliffe, Snow, Southworth, Sprague, Standish, Tilden, Tracey, Wallen, Warren

"Ann" sailed on her return voyage 10 Sep 1623. "Little James" remained, then returned in 1625 to England

Anne passengers - 10 Jul 1623

45. Christian Penn - A female of the John Oldham group but oddly no connection to any other Anne passenger is known. She received one share in the 1623 land division and one share in the 1627 division as "Christian Eaton" which indicates she married Mayflower passenger Francis Eaton prior to 1627 as his 3rd wife. They had a daughter Rachell born 1627, so may have married about 1625/6. After Eaton's death in 1633 she married Mayflower passenger Francis Billington in 1634.

Of the 90-odd passengers, there were about 60 men, women and children total in both ships, many being former English Separatist residents of Leiden, Holland, and with about 30 others being part of an independent emigrant group led by John Oldham. This later group had been promised a separate living situation in Plymouth apart from the main settlement

The Royal Descents of 600 Immigrates VI

<https://www.ancestry.com/search/collections/49324/>

An appendix (to the text, not this introduction) treats the descents of H.M. the Queen and the late Queen Elizabeth The Queen Mother from Richard and Anna (Cordray) Bernard, Mrs. Mary Towneley Warner and Col. George Reade, all of Virginia; of the late Diana, Princess of Wales from Mrs. Alice Freeman Thompson Parke; of princes of Monaco (Louis II and Rainier III) from Rev. John Oxenbridge of Mass.; and of the late Queen Geraldine of Albanians and her son from Thomas Trowbridge of Conn. Only one immigrant herein --- Thomas Lewis of Maine, the last --- is not descended from an English, Scots or Continental king, but only from early Welsh rulers; Lewis's wife, however, was Mrs. Elizabeth Marshall Lewis of Maine, another of the 650 and a descendant of Edward I.
